The Utah state land board has received notice from the general land office at Washington, of the withdrawal from all forms of entry under the public land laws of 18,421 acres of lands in Utah. These lands had been selected by the Utah land board for transfer to private parties as agricultural lands, but they are now withdrawn by the government on the advice of experts who pronounce them coal lands.

There are enough councilmen pledged to give the ordinance over the mayor's veto, which is expected.

CHICAGO SHEEP PRICES.

Market for Fat Sheep Is Very Active and Prices Good.

The Chicago Livestock World says of the sheep market in that city:

Prices were strong and trade active. Buyers were all after a few to kill today with the object of taking care of week-end trade, and anything with decent quality found a speedy movement toward the scales. What killers wanted was bought up as fast as it arrived. Invariably on the eve of a holiday pyrotechnics cause no surprise, but the display was not spectacular. It was simply a good market at prices strong to a little higher. Choice native lambs sold at $7.60 @7.70 and that kind was badly wanted. The $7.50 kind was popular with buyers also. The Miller band of fed westerns from Winona, Minn., made $7.35 and were not finished at that. The usual delegation of $6.50 @7.25 native lambs showed up.

Yearling stuff sold better. Choice lamb-weight yearlings were quotable to $6.25 and it was easy to dispose of $6 @6.15 goods that would not have made the price yesterday. Yearling ewes at $5.10 looked strong. Yearlings have been bad sellers all week and the little improvement was highly gratifying.

It was estimated that in 1874 there were 4,500,000 seals in the great herds of the Fribyloff islands. The number has been reduced to about 180,000.

FULTON'S DEFENSE

SAYS INCRIMINATING LETTERS WERE STOLEN.

Accuses Interior Department of Inciting the Attack Upon Him in Collier's—Called Upon President Roosevelt, But Subject of Attack Not Mentioned.

That Senator Fulton looks lightly upon the charges made against him by Collier's Weekly, is shown by the following dispatch from Washington giving the account of Fulton's conversation concerning it.

He places the blame for the attack upon him on the interior department and makes plain the enmity between himself and Secretary Hitchcock. The dispatch says:

When he left the White House today, Senator Fulton was stopped by several newspaper men and asked about Collier's story. He told them substantially what was stated in those dispatches yesterday, and jokingly remarked that it was time some investigation was made to ascertain what government agents were robbing the mails or looting his committee room in order to get possession of letters addressed to him.

He referred to two brief letters quoted by Collier's, purporting to come from Charles H. Carey and John Hall, urging him to prevent Bristol's confirmation. The senator said he had had thorough search made through his files and no such letters were found.

He declared one of two conclusions was logical, presuming the letters had been written: Either the letters were abstracted from his files or else they were taken from the mails before reaching him. He had no knowledge of having ever seen them. As a matter of fact, the senator attaches no importance to the letters.

Speaking seriously, however, he said that the interior department had been unable to hurt him other than by inspiring Collier's article, a story which he characterized as a "bunch of lies turned loose," and he added that he understood this same manner of warfare was to continue against other senators and representatives, "who have failed to bow the knee to pure and holy patriots who find good only in themselves."

"I think," he continued, "that where a man is charged with corruption, the charge should be free from dirty work."

Mr. Fulton called on the president to introduce Peter Loggie, of Coos Bay. The president was cordial in his greeting to the senator and gave no indication that he had been impressed by the publication of Collier's story. The subject was not mentioned, neither was the Bristol case.

A Western Wonder.

There's a Hill at Bowie, Texas, that's twice as big as last year. This wonder is W. L. Hill, who from a weight of 90 pounds has grown to over 180. He says: "I suffered with a terrible cough, and doctors gave me up to die of Consumption. I was reduced to 90 pounds, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Now, after taking 12 bottles, I have more than doubled in weight and am completely cured." Only sure Cough and Cold cure. Guaranteed by Tallman & Co. druggists, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

DRY FARMING A SUCCESS.

South Dakota Professor Will Make Deserts Habitable.

The advocates of dry farming have won a great victory over the skepticism of the irrigatists and the eastern farmers, and the dry farming proposition must no longer be considered as merely a scheme to sell land on the great plains, for the success being attained in eastern Colorado and western Kansas and Nebraska through haphazard methods has compelled the United States government to recognize the possibilities lying dormant in this great empire, says the Chicago Livestock World.

At the last session of congress a large sum of money was appropriated for dry farming experiments and Prof. E. C. Chilcott, of Brookings, S. D., has been employed by Secretary James Wilson to plan and conduct farming operations on a scientific basis with the hope of overcoming the adverse agricultural conditions prevailing in the semi-arid belt.

Prof. Chilcott for the past 10 years has been experimenting at the Brookings experiment station in dry farming, and from his experience he believes that the plains can be made to sustain thousands of human beings where hundreds of cattle now range, and that comfortable farm homes and prosperous villages and cities will dot the landscape where an occasional steer or coyote is to be seen in 1906.

Prof. Chilcott says of the plan: "We will undertake to conquer the plains by cultural methods, by plant selection and by an intelligent system of rotation of crops. We will in this way develop a system of cultivation that will conserve the little moisture that falls, develop plants strong in drought resisting powers and maintain the fertility of the soil at one and the same time; and by attacking this problem of farming on the plains from the three sides at once we should be able to accomplish definite results."

P. & I. N. Work Suspended.

T. R. Wanless, general foreman of construction work for the Pacific & Idaho Northern, has returned to camp after spending two days in the city looking for men to take a tie contract next spring.

Mr. Wanless says they have about 2000 feet of track to lay and then work will be stopped for the winter on account of the snow and cold weather. When this is completed the train will run to Cabin Hill, about half way between Council and Meadows. At Evergreen a depot has been started which will be used for temporary quarters for baggage and passengers. Record Brothers of Weiser, are building a store and hotel, and stage passengers for Meadows will stop there for dinner.—Boise Capital News.

India's Coal Output.

London, Dec. 7.—A Blue Book issued today shows the total number of coal mines in operation in India to be 275 compared with 294 in 1904. The total output last year was 8,419,739 tons, of which 7,234,333 tons were produced in the province of Bengal. The average number of persons working in the mines is given as 87,995, of which 61,602 are adult males and 2935 children under 12 years of age.

"THE GOVERNOR'S WIFE."

The Comedy and Chorus Furnished Amusement Last Evening.

"The Governor's Wife," a comedy in three acts, was given at the Frazer theater last night and created more or less amusement for an audience that was somewhat limited in numbers. As the name of the play would indicate the show is of a light order. The "bright particular star" is the "Governor," who rules his wife with an iron hand when she is not around. On coming home sober one evening he was not recognized by his dog nor any other members of the family.

There is also a chorus with the troupe but the management evidently does not back upon that feature to any extent, for the young ladies appeared only semi-occasionally.

Protect Proprietary Medicines. Did it ever occur to you that proprietary medicines are a blessing to mankind generally? The good ones have long continued sale; the poor ones have short life and soon leave the market.

It we had to depend entirely upon physicians and druggists it would be expensive and very inconvenient at times, especially in the country and at night when neither could be conveniently reached. For nearly 40 years Boschee's German Syrup has been used in many families and thousands of lives have been saved by its use, when it was impossible to reach a physician. German Syrup is the best household remedy for coughs, colds, throat and lung trouble. It quickly relieves the hacking cough, loosens the phlegm, and brings sound and refreshing sleep. Making Artificial Diamonds.

London, Dec. 7.—At a meeting of the members of the Royal Society today, Herbert Wood described his process for making diamonds artificially. Wood's artificial stones have deceived the best known experts who have declared them to be genuine. The cost of production is so small that it is expected a revolution will take place in the diamond trade.

Colfax, Wash., went for municipal ownership of public utilities by a heavy majority at the recent election. Every city officer elected was chosen on that issue.
